

Rise of $68 Billion in National Product Predicted

America's gross national product will rise $68 billion to cross the trillion dollar line in 1971 but less than half the year-to-year gain will reflect increased output, according to the annual economic forecast of the Prudential Insurance Co.

The forecast puts the total GNP for 1971 at $1,068 billion, a 7% annual increase of which 3 1/4% will be real growth. The balance, 3 3/4%, represents price increases, which leads to the conclusion that the problem of inflation is far from being solved.

Prepared by Dr. J. Robert Ferrari, Prudential's chief economist, the forecast notes that the economy had bottomed out and was on a mild upswing by last September, when the automobile strike began interrupting economic recovery.

However, the forecast predicts a post-strike surge in production during the first half of 1971, followed by slower growth in the last half of the year.

Consumer Spending. Forces contributing to the growth in 1971 will be consumer spending, residential construction and the expenditures of state and local government. Some of these gains will be offset by another decline in defense spending, and business investment in plant and equipment will be sluggish.

In a review of 1970, the forecast states that federal economic policy shifted to a stimulative course, halting the economic decline that had been induced by a year of inflation-fighting restraint. Price increases have moderated, but for the most recent completed quarter were still above a 1% annual rate.

The forecast recalls the serious impact of the 1969-70 business decline on the financial markets, but shows that in terms of key economic measures, the decline was less severe than any of the four official post-war recessions — 1948-49, 1953-54, 1957-58 and 1969-70.

For 1971, the forecast predicts that monetary policy will be only moderately expansionary, that the federal budget deficit in fiscal 1971 will exceed $10 billion, and that unemployment will be above 5% for most of the year. Federal purchases will decline 1% in 1971 to $99 billion, following a similar 1% decline in 1970. Defense spending will decrease about $3 billion to $73 billion next year; this will lead to a further cutback in defense-related civilian employment. Increases in non-defense outlays, however, will largely offset the 1971 reduction in defense spending.

At the state and local government level purchases will increase $13.5 billion, up $12 billion from 1970.

Personal consumption expenditures will reach $602 billion, an increase of $45 billion, reflecting post-strike automobile sales and a healthy rise in disposable income, along with increased consumer confidence and a lower saving rate.

Housing expenditures will rise in 1971, reaching $38 billion. The improvement in housing starts that began in mid-1970 should continue through 1971, the forecast says, increasing both housing starts and expenditures more than 20% next year. Contributing factors include an increase in savings flows and also last summer's federal emergency housing legislation, which expanded the secondary market for mortgages.

Apartment Activity. Prudential also forecasts that apartment units will continue to be an important and growing segment of housing activity, but one-to-four family home starts are also expected to pick up. The expected output of mobile homes, added to the predicted 1.7 million conventional housing starts, will result in the equivalent of 2.1 million starts next year.

Business inventory investment will rise to $6 billion in 1971, compared with $2.5 billion in 1970. Sales and expenditures accumulated will be particularly strong in the first half of the year because of the post-strike buildup of auto stock plus stockpiling of steel in anticipation of a possible steel strike in August.

Business plant and equipment outlays will rise about 1% to $104.5 billion, versus a 3% rise in 1970. This represents a reduction in capital spending in physical terms. The scaling down is delayed response to restrictive economic policies.

Low profits, capacity underutilization, high financing costs, and the removal of the 7% investment tax credit have all caused downward revisions in businessmen's spending plans.

The total investment in plant and equipment will be 10% of GNP, the smallest such percentage since 1964.

Net exports will not change in 1971—holding at $4 billion. The year-to-year increase in the GNP comprehensive price index will be about 3.7% in 1971, versus the 5% increase in 1970.

Signs that inflation was beginning to subside began to appear during the first half of this year. Remaining slack in the economy, the delay in recovery caused by the auto strike and further productivity gains all point to continued moderation of the rate of inflation through the first half of 1971.

From that point, the forecast says, price effects will depend largely on the relative exuberance of the first six months of post-strike expansion, and the responsiveness of economic policy to the threats of renewed inflation. Negotiated wage increases will weigh heavily on the outlook.

Import price implications also arise in the service sector where demand so far has proved to be relatively immune to a slowing of economic activity. These industries, the forecast says, offer little short-term prospect for improved productivity because of their labor intensiveness.

In addition to the 1971 outlook, the Prudential forecast also focuses on a shift in the age distribution of American households shaping up in this decade.

The baby boom that followed low birth rates in the Depression and World War II is producing a dramatic growth in the percentage of households headed by persons aged 25 to 34.

In 1969, these households accounted for a third of one-family houses purchased, a quarter of household durables sold, and over a fifth of automobile sales — although they earned only 19% of aggregate household income.

This spending pattern illustrates the potential impact of the shift to younger households on consumer demand and household saving.

Bandit Gets $50 At Station; One Home Burglarized

An armed bandit escaped with $50 in a holdup of Harry Fryntko, proprietor of Fryntko's Service Station, 718 Niedringhaus Ave., at 5:50 p.m. Monday.

Fryntko said the station door was locked when the man knocked and asked for change. When the door was opened the man pulled a small revolver and asked for money, telling Fryntko to keep the checks. He left on foot toward a ma-ron or red auto.

The robber was described as being in his late 40s, 6 feet tall, 200 pounds and with a pimply face.

Bruce Groshong, 3313 Princeton Drive, reported at 7:35 p.m. Monday that his home was lost of $100 in small bills and two guns after 6:25 p.m. Entry was gained by prying the rear door, splintering the facing. The bedroom was ransacked. The guns included a .38 caliber Remington-Union valued at $75 and a .22 caliber automatic valued at $75.

Thefts from Autos

A citizen's hand radio and equipment valued at $389 was stolen from the auto of Ervin E. Smith, 2084 Harris St., Monday, and a CB radio valued at $204.50 was taken from the auto of Vernon Ryan, 4737 Wacker Ave., while they were parked on the lot at the Granite City Steel Co. Blast Furnace Division, Monday, at 3 p.m. Monday. Vent windows were forced open to gain entry.

Four tires and wheels valued at $80 were stolen from an auto parked on the lot at the Granite City Dodge Agency, 2911 Madison Ave., before Nov. 15, it was reported Monday.

Wheels Covered Taken

William Jenkins, 2158 State St., told police at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday that two wire wheel covers valued at $50 had been taken from his car overnight while parked at his home.

Carl Peters, Primrose Avenue and Pontoon Road, reported at 9 p.m. Monday that a 12-volt battery was stolen from his 1962 station wagon which was parked at the Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

Five tarpaulins worth $250 were taken from a flat-bed truck-trailer leased by John Krieg, Lutherville, Md., while parked overnight at Smiley's Truck Stopover, 10th and State Streets, Madison, Krieg reported the theft at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

GC Boy Gets Birthday Greeting from LBJ

decision by Alderman Emerald Dawes, but Alderman Sam Whitmer set off a lengthy debate when he brought up the question of financing. Whitmer asked if the money could be borrowed.

Mayor Partney replied that he had discussed financing with several sources and said that he was confident the city could borrow the entire amount at 5% interest, to be retired over a reasonable amortization period.

Asks Committee Study

Alderman Walter Nann suggested that a committee be appointed to study the entire proposal, including the financing prospects, and report to the council in its next meeting Dec. 7.

The mayor told the council "I asked the council members last week to look over this property so that we could reach a decision on it. This is a very good proposition and the area you won't find again. This man (the owner) has to know what we are going to do and I need a decision for him tomorrow."

Alderman Clyde Boyd pointed out that he had no objection to a $100,000 project "until I have looked over the entire financing plan." A similar attitude was expressed by Alderman Paul Schuler who suggested the city look into the possibility of building its own fire station.

Alderman Gerald Parmley said he was certain the city could build a new fire station building "at a cost of $50,000."

Up to the Council

"It's up to the council what we do on this," the mayor said. "You told me to bring in a package deal and I have brought it in."

Dawes made a motion that the Fire and Water Committee study the matter and bring in a recommendation at the next council session. Boyd remarked that since Mayor Partney had handled the appraisal and financing discussions, he should be included on the committee.

"I don't want to be on it," the mayor remarked, adding that he already had contributed the information we now have."

The council approved the purchase of three new police cars from Brewer-Moore Co. at a net price of $9054, the lowest of three bids.

MORE ABOUT Annexation

Mayor Donald Partney had dismissed the Madison annexation proceeding. The mayor provided a copy of the court order and it was made a part of the record.

Granite City filed objections to the annexation ordinance adopted by Madison on grounds that the area proposed for annexation included the city of Granite City's sewage treatment plant on which Granite City has a long-term lease with the government.

Gitchett told the Madison council, however, that the objections by Granite City are not considered sufficient to interfere with Madison annexation after the government finally declares plans for disposition of the Depot facilities and land.

Madison adopted an ordinance to annex 333 acres of the Depot area on Oct. 13. The ordinance then was filed with the circuit court which was asked to conduct a public hearing and order a referendum vote on the proposal.

The 28-year-old Depot installation is among a number of bases to be deactivated as economy measures ordered by the U. S. Department of Defense.

Mayor Partney told council members that he has "staked a claim" on part of the depot area and that Granite City is to be notified as soon as the government decides what it intends to do with the depot land and facilities.

Four Injured in Traffic Mishaps

Mrs. Virginia Jones, 21, of 1003 Kirkpatrick Homes, and George R. Wilson, 17, of 1301 Rhodes St., were injured when their autos collided at 5:45 p.m. Monday at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Mrs. Jones was admitted following complaints of neck and chest pains and contusions to the left shoulder. Wilson had struck his head on the dashboard, received treatment to the lower gums and was released following x-rays.

Michael T. Britt, 23, of 714 Third St., Venice, was injured when his auto, southbound on Madison Avenue, struck the parked car of Louis R. Lake, 1103 Madison Ave., parked in front of his home at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. Police said the collision knocked the car into the front yard at 1127 Madison Ave.

Britt was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions to his forehead and left forearm. X-rays of his skull, spine and left arm were taken and he was released.

Carol D. Smith, 18, of Cahokia, was injured when her auto struck a Granite City Steel Co. switch engine at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at E. 20th and Omaha streets but was unable to stop in time.

Police said the signal lights had failed. The engineer was Cecil Tankis, 2729 Birch Ave. The engine dragged the auto sideways several feet.

The victim was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital with contusions of the right temple and pains in the right leg and right hip. She was released following treatment and x-rays.

A well-planned tree planting can yield a variety of useful products, such as Christmas trees, post, poles, pulpwood, sawlogs, and veneer bolts. It also contributes to environmental improvement.

Seedling trees are available from two state nurseries at reasonable cost for many forestry and conservation purposes. If you plan to get state nursery stocks to plant next spring, the time to order is now.

This year's supply of seedling trees and shrubs includes species useful for erosion control, wildlife, Christmas trees, shelterbelt and timber-growing purposes.

Madison county has about 25,000 acres of woodland. Some native stands of timber can be improved by planting desirable species of hardwood or evergreen trees.

Planting trees and shrubs on "washed" areas can serve as a triple purpose: prevent erosion and consequent silting of ponds or streams, to supply food and cover for wildlife, and to grow a crop of forest or wood products.

The use of state nursery stocks for ornamental, shade or landscaping purposes is prohibited. Purchase stocks for these uses from regular commercial sources.

Order Blanks Available

Seedling trees from state nurseries cost $12 to $20 per thousand, depending on the species. A minimum order is 500 trees of any one species. Price lists and order blanks are available now at the County Extension Office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville.

All apriaries must be registered by November 1 of each year in compliance with a regulation of the State of Illinois. An apriary is defined as any place where one or more colonies of bees are kept.

Beepkeepers may obtain registration blanks now at the County Extension Office. There is no fee for registration.

Illinois farmers received $142 a bushel for corn on September 15, 1970, compared with $114 a bushel on that date a year ago, according to the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service.

Baled alfalfa hay sold at an average of $29 a ton, up $1 from a year ago. Other baled hay sold at $25 a ton, up $2 from a year ago.

Beef cattle, calves, and lambs sold live by farmers were one-half cent to 1.7 cents a pound higher than a year ago, but price received by farmers for live hogs dropped 5.1 cents a pound during the year.

Average price received by Illinois farmers September 15, 1970 for beef cattle was $27.70 a hundred pounds, for calves $32.50 a hundred pounds, and for hogs $19.60 a hundred pounds.

Scott to Oppose Utility Rate Rise in Venice Area

Attorney General William J. Scott announced at Springfield today that he will contest a power rate increase now being sought by the Union Electric Co. in the Madison County area on grounds that the big power firm is a major air polluter.

Scott said that he would contest the rate request of the company, which operates the Cahokia plant at Saugei and the Venice plant at Venice, in behalf of the residents and power consumers in that area who would not only bear the costs of the rate boost, but be directly concerned with pollution discharge in that sector.

It will be the second time Scott has entered an Illinois utility rate increase case to demand significant pollution control expenditures as part of any approved increase in power rates. The rate plea is now before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Earlier this year, as the result of the Attorney General's intervention, the Commonwealth Edison power plant in the Chicago area was granted an increase in rates, but it was stipulated that Edison must carry out a detailed program of pollution abatement over the next six years, involving anti-pollution expenditures of approximately $200,000,000.

If the company fails to comply, its new rate increase may be cut back up to one-half. It was a precedent action for Scott, the first such rate intervention case in the history of pollution grounds.

Regional Taxes Below Average

The Tax Foundation said this week that residents of this region pay less in local taxes than the average resident of the nation's 35 major metropolitan areas.

The average figure in Madison and St. Clair counties, Ill., St. Louis and the counties of St. Louis, Franklin, Jefferson and St. Charles, Mo., was given as $182, including $148 property taxes and $36 other taxes. For all of the population centers, the same statistic in 1969 was $229, including $187 in property taxes and $42 other.

The 1969-70 increase in this region was 27%, compared to 25% nationally.

The $182 local and $229 national figure for the past year compare with a high of $341 per person in New York City and a low of $85 in San Antonio, Tex.

A delegation of Quad-City area officials conferred in Springfield with Illinois highway officials yesterday to request a 12th street exit from FA Route 151. (The Great River Road) where the next stretch of highway is built between Granite City and Venice.

Mr. Carl H. Ranft, manager of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority, said the group was told such an exit is possible and will be discussed again later when engineering plans for that highway sector are prepared.

Attending the meeting from here, in addition to Ranft, were Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk; Dr. John E. Lee, mayor of Venice; Edward Jeneau, Granite City engineer; State Sen. Sam Vadalabene and State Rep. Horace Calvo.

Defrosting Your Freezer

How often does a freezer need defrosting? It is recommended that you defrost a freezer before the frost is half an inch deep over a large area of refrigerated surfaces.

Before you start the process, they suggest you have cartons or newspaper handy for wrapping the food and keeping it frozen while the freezer is defrosting. Place the wrapped food or the cartons back into the freezer and set the control at its lowest setting for a few hours or overnight to get the food and the extra wrap as cold as possible. Then you can just remove the cartons and defrost the food in them while you defrost the freezer.

Pans of hot water will speed defrosting. Scrape as much of the light frost from the freezer walls or shelves as you can and work fast. Use a thick, flexible spatula or some such tool, not a sharp or rigid instrument like a knife, which could damage the walls.

After removing all ice and water, wash the freezer interior with a solution of two table- spoons of baking soda to a quart of warm water. Rinse interior with clear water and dry thoroughly.

Set the control at its coldest setting and run the freezer for at least ten minutes before replacing the food. If defrosting took longer than an hour, run the freezer fifteen to twenty minutes longer.

When the food temperature is down to zero. Then turn the control to the position that will keep this temperature.

Your freezer will need less frequent defrosting if you scrape off thin layers of frost as they form.

THANKSGIVING PROGRAM BY CUBS OF PACK EIGHT
Cub Pack Eight entertained the parents with a Thanksgiving program and an awards presentation held at the First United Presbyterian Church Monday evening. Greeters were Mrs. Barbara Robertson and Webster Bryan Warren. Cubmaster David Warren led the audience in the pledge of allegiance.

The opening ceremony was given by Den One, led by Mrs. Sandy Ebling. It included a reading, "Many Things to Be Thankful For," given by Shane Robinson, and the scouts told what they had to be thankful. They saluted the cubmaster with a "grand howl."

Roll call was conducted by Mrs. Lois Warren, den mother of Den Two. Harold Willis gave a summary on the success of a "fun fair." A treasury report was given by Warren.

Mrs. Warren's Den Two enacted a play, "Things We Are Thankful For," and the scouts sang, "America the Beautiful." The award presentation was under the direction of Warren and Willis. Those who received bobcat rank were Phillip Barron, Bruce Monahan and Larry Robinson. The silver arrow points were presented to Brian Penhale and a bear book to Edward Knowles.

Webelos awards were given to Bryan Warren, Jim Morgan and Stewart Williamson, geologist, and David Willis, forester. Brian Penhale was welcomed into the Webelos. A one-year perfect attendance award was given to David Willis, and re-cruiter stripes went to Richard Smith.

The cubby award was won by Mrs. Alberta Buhman's Webelos Den One, which retired the colors and led a closing ceremony and singing of "America."

'Tree of Lights' Kickoff Saturday; Brunch at 'Y'

The Salvation Army's 1979 "Tree of Lights" campaign to provide food baskets, clothing and toys for needy Quad-City families will get under way Saturday with a free brunch, scheduled to start at 10 a.m. at the YMCA. The public is invited.

Immediately following the brunch and program, participants will walk to Memorial Park opposite St. Elizabeth Hospital, where Salvation Army Lt. Donald R. Noyes will conduct a brief ceremony and illuminate the first light on the Salvation Army's large Christmas tree.

Principal speaker at Saturday's brunch will be State Rep. Horace L. Calvo, (D), of Granite City.

The program also will include music selections by Solist Paul Mabry, general music instructor at Wilson and Lake grade schools and choir director of the Westminster United Methodist Church. He will be accompanied by Miss Becca Aschcraft.

Sponsored by B&W
Mrs. Pauline Weir, chairman of the 1979 "Tree of Lights" fund-raising drive, said the kickoff brunch is being sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club. Theme of the campaign is "Share With Others."

State Rep. Calvo and his family reside at 3254 Westchester.

They will be judged next week, with prizes awarded for the best tree. Mrs. Marie Rheinhardt, school secretary, Mrs. Mylene Donoff, nurse, and Miss Loretta Woolbright, counselor, will serve as judges.

The festival of giving will be held at Namekoi School Dec. 4 from 7 to 9 p.m. and Mrs. Lee asked the scouts to bring the food staples next week. Patrol leaders met at the Lee home Wednesday afternoon to decorate the basket.

Karen Lee of Senior Troop 1177 and Carol Lee of Cadette Troop 1180 assisted with the practice session as preparations were made for the entertainment segment of the charitable program. Carol Lee, Leslie Terrell and Carina Kuhn will play a flute accompaniment.

Games were played and the session closed with a friendship circle and "Taps." Mrs. Lee offered the scoutmaster prayer. Others attending were Cheryl Brinkley, Jackie Chapline, Enid Cox, Danna and Tammy Dew, Cindy Ferguson, Jackie Fry, Julia Fox, Tammy Fritts, Becky Girmes, Barbara Hoffman, Colleen Jackson, Donna Long, Lori Nemeth, Shirley Patton, Becky Schorff, Shelley Siebert, Leon Thomas, Janice Van Gilder, Vickie Williams and Cheryl Yarr.

Realtors Cite Law Against Unauthorized Referral Fees

Due to several complaints received of unlicensed persons being paid for soliciting listings, or for finding buyers or sellers to a real estate transaction, the Granite City Board of Realtors today warned against such practices.

The board issued a statement reminding all persons — both real estate personnel and members of the public alike — that it is unlawful to pay a fee or commission to any unlicensed member of the public for services performed in connection with a real estate transaction.

The Board of Realtors referred to Section Eight of the Real Estate Brokers and Salesmen Law, which makes it unlawful for an unlicensed person to be paid a fee for spotting, finding or sending a listing, a buyer or seller to a real estate agent in a real estate transaction.

The Board of Realtors, which is organized to promote and maintain high standards of conduct in the real estate profession, said it would be "just as unethical and unlawful in such instances for a fee to be paid, or for finding buyers or sellers to a real estate transaction, the be paid for referring clients to an attorney, physician or member of another recognized profession."

Harris Candidate for GOP Leader of Senate

State Sen. William C. Harris (R, Pontiac) said this week that he will be a candidate for the position of Illinois Senate Republican leader. The majority post is currently held by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R, Evanston).

Harris, who is the assistant majority leader, predicted that he has enough votes to win the leadership. During the 1971-72 biennium, the Senate will be evenly divided, with 29 Democrats and 29 Republicans.

Harris said his strategy, if elected, would be to "avoid donnybrook." He said he would seek to negotiate compromises with Democrats rather than have constant fighting.

'Bowling Sweepstakes' To Aid Jaycee Projects

The 11th Annual Bowling Sweepstakes, sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees, will take place at Bowland Lanes, and Brunswick Tri Mor Bowl starting Monday, Wayne Worthen, Jaycee project chairman, announced this week.

The event, which runs through Sunday, Dec. 6, is open to all league members who bowl at the two lanes. Those entering the sweepstakes by contributing a $1 entrants fee are eligible to compete for cash awards in either the men or women's division.

Winners will be determined on a handicap of 70% of the difference between 210 and the bowler's actual average, Worthen explained. Scores bowled in regular league competition during the contest nights will be used in tabulating the winning bowlers' scores.

Cash Awards
Prize money for both men and women is set at $100, first place; $50, second; $25, third; and $10, each high scratch single and high scratch series.

Local Jaycees will register sweepstakes participants immediately before league competition each evening, Worthen said.

Proceeds will be used to take underprivileged youngsters from the Quad-Cities on a Christmas shopping trip during which clothing items and shoes are purchased.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM...

The First National Bank in Madison

On the eve of Thanksgiving most of us are dreaming of turkey and stuffing and pumpkin and mincemeat pie. Most of us have much for which we are thankful.

We at The First National Bank in Madison are thankful for our good fortunes. Thankful also for the confidence that our thousands of customers have placed in us.

Our next big holiday will be Christmas. Certainly there are many who are less fortunate than you and I. In the true spirit of Christmas it must be "more blessed to give than to receive." To encourage this philosophy we at The First National Bank in Madison would like to help a young girl or boy to provide a happier Christmas for a friend or relative.

Any girl or boy (grades one through eight) is invited to write us and tell us who he would like to help... to whom he would play Santa's Helper... and why he would like to provide this person with a gift... and what that gift would be. We've put aside $100 to help you play Santa.

Write Santa's Helper, The First National Bank in Madison... or drop your letter in the Santa's Helper barrel in the lobby of our bank. We must receive your letter by December 15th.

Remember; all grade school students are eligible to write and tell us who they'd like to help, why, and what they'd like to give. Help us be your Santa's Helper.

Thankfully, your friends at,

THE 1ST National Bank in Madison

MR. AND MRS. RAY ROMINE SR., who will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, at the Elk's Club. A reception will be held in the rathskellar from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr., Mrs. Ray Romine Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Romine Sr., who were married 50 years ago on Nov. 29 in Carrolton, Ill., will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at the Elk's Club. Their four children have arranged an open house and Mr. and Mrs. Romine will receive their relatives and friends in the rathskellar of the club. No formal invitations have been issued and the couple requests that gifts be omitted.

Mrs. Romine, the former Leila McCracken, was born and reared in Venice, in 1903, when the Mississippi River flooded Venice streets and homes, her family moved to Eldred, Ill., near Carrolton, and in 1917 returned to this area.

Mr. Romine is a native of Phelps County near Rolla, Mo. In 1913 he moved to Granite City and went to work in the old Tin Mill of Granite City Steel Co., where he was employed for 14 years. In 1927 he became a member of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, Local 81, which subsequently became the present Local 555, and in which he still holds membership.

A member of Masonic Lodge 788, Mr. Romine also belongs to the Low Twelve Club and the Scottish Rite. He served in the U. S. Marine Corps during World War I.

Children of the couple are Mrs. Joe (Irma) Buscemi; Ray Romine Jr., and Glenn Romine, all of Granite City, and Mrs. Jack (Jeanine) Kennerton of Birmingham, Ala. There are also nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

He was employed as a delivery man for the Dress Dairy Co., making his deliveries to homes and businesses with a horse-drawn wagon. For many years Mr. Romine delivered fuel oil for Sinclair Refineries; Federal Oil D-X; Cities Service Oil Co., and to the Granite City Army Depot.

In 1939 Mr. Romine went to work for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District until he retired in 1963 when he and Mrs. Romine moved to Pooctontas, Ark. Not satisfied with retirement, they returned to Granite City in 1964 and after overcoming a period of ill health, Mr. Romine returned to work with the Levee District in 1967, where he is presently employed.

St. Peter Confirmation Class To Take Part in Advent Service

Down through the centuries, Christians have marked the Sundays in Advent by lighting a candle for each of the four weeks. The wreath of green with four candles set in a circle symbolize the eternity of God and a sign of ever new life.

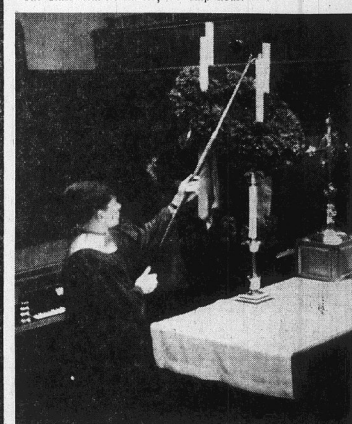

The candles symbolize the light that came into the world with Jesus. By lighting a candle each week, Christians help to prepare themselves spiritually for the coming of Christmas and to think together on its meaning for them and all the world.

This year Advent begins Sunday, As has been the custom, members of the Confirmation Class at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 21st street and Cleveland Blvd., will participate in the Worship Services as the candles are lighted. Each candle will symbolize one of the important parts of the Christmas story, the star, the Holy Family, the shepherds and the Wise Men.

The Class with its Pastor, the Rev. Robert Kettelhut, has been preparing its part in the worship services. Its preparations have included researching the Bible for passages that will help understand the meaning of the symbols and writing an appropriate prayer to express these thoughts.

In addition, each family in the church has received a set of family devotions to help them light the Advent candles and worship together as a family throughout the Advent Season. The Church School studies will include in their classes a discussion of the meaning of Christmas and how they can prepare their hearts and lives.

For the Sunday morning Worship Services, Rev. Kettelhut will be preaching a series of Advent meditations on the theme, "God Among Us." Worship begins at 10:15 a.m. with Church School classes at 9 a.m. for all ages including an adult class. Child care for pre-schoolers is provided during the worship hour.

LIGHTING FIRST Advent candle is Bruce Knobloch at St. Peter United Church of Christ for the service to be held Sunday at the church.

The Chapter Bible was signed by the incoming officers. Mrs. Donna Woodard and Al Woodard, while the past officers of New Hope formed a circle around the altar.

Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Frank Christ of the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison, Jack Dempsey, past patron of New Hope and Martin Love, member, served as ushers.

REESE DRUG COSMETIC CENTER...

Howard Colquitt Takes New Post In Tempe, Ariz.

Howard W. Colquitt, executive manager of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, has accepted a similar position with the Chamber of Commerce of Tempe, Ariz. He is to start his new duties Jan. 4 in the 67,000-population Arizona community. Colquitt, who has headed the local Chamber office since Feb. 15, 1967, plans to leave Granite City during Christmas week with his wife, Janet, and three daughters, Kathleen, 10, Cheryl, 8, and Deborah, 6.

Albert J. Froemming, president of the Tri-Cities Chamber board of directors, is expected to appoint a selection committee this week to review applications of prospective candidates to replace Colquitt.

Notified of Vacancy Both the U. S. and Illinois Chambers of Commerce have been notified the vacancy exists and will direct candidates to apply.

A native of Denver, Colo., Colquitt was reared in the southern Colorado region until a teenager when his family moved to Illinois. He attended high school in Chicago and is a graduate of Valparaiso University in Indiana.

In his initial C. of C. post, he joined the Chamber staff at Tipton, Ind. Later, he was employed at Sioux City, Ia., and then transferred to Collinsville, where he managed the Chamber office for four years prior to accepting the Granite City membership.

Colquitt said the area over which his duties will extend, beginning in January, encompasses roughly the same population as the Quad-Cities. His new staff will consist of an assistant manager and three office personnel.

Commenting that he will miss working with his associates in the Quad-Cities, Colquitt said the family is looking forward, however, to the Arizona climate and the new style of life.

Slight Drop in Production Of Steel During Past Month

Domestic steel production dipped slightly in October, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

Steelmakers poured 19,669,000 tons of raw steel — compared with September's output of 19,727,000 tons, and with October, 1969 production of 12,324,000 tons.

The basic oxygen furnace — which now turns out more than half the nation's steel — continued to widen its lead over the open hearth during October. BOFs produced 5,487,000 tons of steel — a significant gain over their 5,353,000 ton September output.

Open hearths turned out 3,322,000 tons of steel in October — a drop of 211,000 tons from September, and 1,511,000 tons less than they produced in October, 1969.

Electric furnaces poured 1,660,000 tons during October — some 19,000 tons better than their September performance.

Through the first 10 months of 1970, the nation's steelmakers made 110,851,000 tons of the metal, of which 52,986,000 tons came from basic oxygen furnaces, 41,443,000 tons from open hearths, and 16,902,000 tons from electric furnaces.

ASIS's steelmaking index, based on average production during the 1957-1959 period as 100, stood at 129.3 for October and 137.0 for the first 10 months of 1970. This compares with a September 1970 index of 124.4 and an index of 149.4 for October of last year. The 10 months, 1969, index was 145.9.

If You Can't Fight Them, 'Jine' Them, Vocabulary Expert Suggests

Did you ever wonder why some people go "on the war path" or live "on the right side of the tracks" or aren't "worth a continental?"

Or when it became more proper to say "join" than "jine?"

American English has its origins in a range of 17th and 18th century varieties of British English, according to Prof. Gordon Wood of the SIU-SW English faculty.

"The colonial languages kept some traits which later disappeared from the home language and, by necessity, used new words for new conditions," he says.

Wood has written a book on "Vocabulary Change: A Study of Variation in Regional Words in Eight of the Southern States" which will be released in January by the SIU Press.

On Friday, Nov. 27, he will present a paper on the subject at the Atlanta meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English. It will concern regional change as it relates to teaching standard English.

"Vocabulary change and the westward movement began to be related to each other when Englishmen and other Europeans discovered their New World and colonized," according to the SIU-SW English professor.

"If mountains, rivers and other physical barriers had continued to hinder exchange between communities as they did in earlier times," Wood says, "distinct languages probably would have arisen from American English, just as French, Spanish and Italian did from Latin."

"Industrialization changed this tendency toward rural isolation in the 19th century when railroads and other inventions brought the country to the city," he says.

"Some railroads prospered. The well-to-do found themselves 'born on the right side of the tracks' and less fortunate people 'on the wrong side.'"

The first colonists in Virginia and along Massachusetts Bay brought with them similar southern English dialects, but not that of the London royal court and the aristocracy who lived nearby. Wood explains.

Names of the colonies from New York southward are royal. A rich source of our non-English names is the American Indian, according to Wood. Colonialists' relations with Indians provide instances of regular English usage—"to be on the war path," for example.

Remembering the value of currency issued by the Continental Congress, some pioneers may have said something was "not worth a Continental," the Princeton University Ph.D. said in citing instances of dialects.

Fashionable British pronunciations of the 17th and 18th centuries such as "jine" for the later "join" and "varmint" for "vermin" were widespread.

"Noah Webster argued for the pronunciation 'deed' against 'deaf,' for 'them horses' and 'who is married to,' asserting that 'it is always better to be vulgarly right than politely wrong,'" the SIU professor relates.

Political events often obliged the candidate to speak from a tree "stump" to a restless audience. Davy Crockett called them "stumping" speeches.

Religious events called for "Sunday go-to-meeting clothes" and brought on "hell and damnation" sermons and songs about the "old time religion."

"Automobiles are the last of the new products which can be associated with dialectal difference and the increasingly national style of word choices," Wood says.

"Their influence is seen in the names of roads. The more recent road building projects have given national meaning to 'exit' and 'entrance ramp' and such comments as 'ahead rest stop.'"

"National movement from place to place and the influence of radio and television should eventually produce standard forms everywhere," Woods concludes.

(a) Whenever three-fifths of the members elected to each house of the General Assembly so direct, the election of whether or a Constitutional Convention should be called shall be submitted to the electors at the general election next occurring at least six months after the legislative session.

(b) If the question of whether a Convention should be called is not submitted during any twenty-year period, the Secretary of State shall submit such question to the general election in the twentieth year following the last submission.

(c) The vote on whether to call a Convention shall be on a separate ballot. A Convention shall be called if approved by three-fifths of the electors on the question or a majority of those voting in the election.

(d) The General Assembly, at the session following approval by the electors, by law shall provide for the Convention and for the election of two delegates from each Senatorial District; designate the time and place of the Convention's first session which shall be within three months after the election of delegates; fix and provide for the pay of delegates and officers; and provide for expenses necessarily incurred by the Convention.

(e) To be eligible to be a delegate a person must meet the same eligibility requirements as a member of the General Assembly. Vacancies shall be filled as provided by law.

(f) The Convention shall prepare such revisions or amendments to the Constitution as it deems necessary.

Any proposed revision or amendments approved by a majority of the delegates elected shall be submitted to the electors in such manner as the convention determines, at a general election designated or called by the Convention occurring not less than two nor more than six months after the Convention's adjournment.

Any revision or amendments proposed by the Convention shall be published with explanations, as the Convention provides, at least one month preceding the election of delegates.

(g) The vote on the proposed revision or amendments shall be on a separate ballot. Any proposed revision or amendments shall become effective, as the Convention provides, if approved by a majority of those voting on the question.

SECTION 2. AMENDMENTS BY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

(a) Amendments to the Constitution may be initiated in either house of the General Assembly.

Amendments shall be read in full on three different days in each house and reproduced before the vote is taken on final passage.

Amendments approved by the vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house shall be submitted to the electors at the general election next occurring at least six months after such legislative approval, unless withdrawn by a vote of a majority of the members elected to each house.

(b) Amendments proposed by the General Assembly shall be published with explanations, as provided by law, at least one month preceding the vote thereon by the electors. The vote on the proposed amendment or amendments shall be on a separate ballot.

A proposed amendment shall become effective as the amendment provides if approved by either three-fifths of the electors on the question or a majority of those voting in the election.

(c) The General Assembly shall not submit proposed amendments to more than three Articles of the Constitution at any one election.

No amendment shall be proposed or submitted until after the election of delegates to the Convention is called.

SECTION 3. CONSTITUTIONAL INITIATIVE FOR LEGISLATIVE ARTICLE

Amendments to Article IV of this Constitution may be proposed by a petition signed by a number of electors equal in number to at least eight percent of the total votes cast for candidates for Governor in the preceding gubernatorial election.

Amendments shall be limited to structural and procedural amendments contained in Article IV.

A petition shall contain the text of the proposed amendment and the date of the general election at which the proposed amendment is to be submitted, shall have been signed by the petitioning electors not more than twenty-four months preceding that general election and shall be filed with the Secretary of State at least six months before that general election.

The procedure for determining the validity and sufficiency of a petition shall be provided by law.

If the petition is valid and sufficient, the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors at that general election and shall become effective if approved by either three-fifths of the electors on the amendment or a majority of those voting in the election.

SECTION 4. AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

The affirmative vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house of the General Assembly shall be required to request Congress to call a Federal Constitutional Convention to ratify a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The General Assembly shall not take action on any proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States until it has been ratified by legislatures unless a majority of the members of the General Assembly shall have been elected after the proposed amendment has been submitted for ratification.

Selection of Experienced Administrator Is Big Step Forward for New Airport Authority

The St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority is making encouraging progress toward establishing a second major airport, to be situated in Illinois. Latest forward step is the selection of Arven H. Saunders as executive director; he at present is director of the Des Moines International and Washington National airports in the Washington, D. C. area.

Gov. Ogilvie summed up his qualifications by noting that "Mr. Saunders has been a distinguished career in airport management and operation, has an intimate familiarity with the Federal Aviation Administration and enjoys the respect of the top people in our airlines."

As he further pointed out, "All these qualities—and wide support from the governments, agencies and persons involved in the project—will be necessary to achieve our goal of a modern jetport" to serve the future needs of the Illinois and Missouri portions of the metropolitan region.

Roofed, Open-Air Ice Rink Here Attracting Skaters from Distant Regions of the Nation

Our first reaction during planning of the Wilson Park ice rink was to say, "Don't cover it; will use its outdoor effect." But the effect was achieved by omitting walls and starting the roof high enough that skaters could see and feel the outdoors.

The wisdom of the decision made by citizens and Granite City park officials is being constantly borne out by the ability of the local rink-creation center to remain in operation even when the sun has caused too much melting at other rinks, when rain has chased skaters from open-air arenas, and when snow or wind or cold have limited rink attendance elsewhere.

A fine example of the value of the Wilson Park "ice palace" was provided by the second annual Granite City-Gateway Speed Skating Championships held Nov. 21-22.

A total of 170 contestants raced in 134 events, coming here from five states, including California, Wisconsin and Minnesota. It was a real treat for speed skating enthusiasts, and many hundreds of spectators were attracted.

St. Louis once had its "Silver Skates," and now the Quad-City area has a well-planned tournament which seems likely to grow in size and acclaim for many years. And speed skating is only one of many attractions at the Wilson Park rink, which also is the scene of recreational skating, instruction, figure skating and ice hockey.

One of the greatest labor-saving devices of today is tomorrow.

Riddle New Madison School Superintendent

Appointment of Fred Riddle as the new superintendent of schools returns to the Madison district a man well known here as an outstanding athletic coach, teacher and high school principal. Madisonians and Quad-Citians wish him well in his new duties.

Need for More Dentists Challenges State Higher Education Board to Approve Funds

The Illinois Board of Higher Education, by approving a proposed amendment to the Southern Illinois University 1971-72 capital funds budget, can permit the first class of students to report on schedule to the new School of Dental Medicine in September 1971. Unless renovation of temporary facilities at the Alton center is authorized, the initial class will have to be postponed for a year.

The remodeling work is estimated to cost $11 1/2 million. Favorable Board of Higher Education action also is being sought on a $29 million budget addition, extending over a period of years, to establish permanent Dental School facilities on the main Southwestern campus. The state designated SIU-SW in 1968 as the site of dental medicine instruction.

The master plan calls for the permanent building to be in operation in the fall of 1975, and it is vital that the first class be allowed to start next year.

With one of the two St. Louis dental schools closing, it is obvious that downstate Illinois will experience a severe cutback in the supply of new dentists unless the state, through SIU-SW, acts promptly.

Headline in the West Frankfort Daily American: "Governor Ogilvie Appoints Normal Man to SIU Board." Well, we would certainly hope so!

Probation Division Establishes Reporting Program for This Area in City of Madison

The Probation Court Services Department of the Third Judicial Circuit deserves commendation for its decision to permit reporting by Quad-City area probationers to an office which has been made available in the Madison City Hall.

Transportation to the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville is difficult and costly for many people to arrange. The new Quad-City reporting system, along with one established in the Alton area, will improve the efficiency and convenience of the adult probation program without adding to the cost to taxpayers.

Big University Tuition Hike Would Violate Prudent Policy

By JOHN S. RENDLEMAN Chancellor, SIU-SW

On grounds of basic principle and prudent policy, the tuition increase proposed by the Tuition and Financial Aids Study Committee of the Illinois Board of Higher Education should be rejected.

Let's talk first about principle. It is my conviction that the heart of the concept of public education as it has evolved in America is to provide an education accessible to anyone. The prime corollary of this, of course, would be that there be no tuition increase if it is to be supported by the State.

This has not been the practice of the State of Illinois in its history. I say this with regret.

The proposal that is currently being recommended, however, is so far from the ideal that one can seriously question what the idea of public education means to the people of Illinois.

To ask the student and his family to pay one-third of the cost of his instruction is a drastic, radical step away from the meaning of free public education on any level of reasonable interpretation. I say this to my regret.

No one who has been living in my situation over the past few years is likely to aver that we are living in an ideal world. So let's move to the realm of more practical concerns.

The general public interest in education, state and local, demands that access to an education be broadened. I say this with full recognition of the fact that costs are curving up.

It is unfair to exact money from the many lower income taxpayers who bear substantial burdens from the state's tax structure to subsidize education of young adults who are unable to pay their own way.

The response to that statement from the people who live in the environs of Edwardsville would be bitter laughter.

The students who come to us for education are to serve and the families who support them to contribute to their support.

They also know that a tuition increase is not the answer.

First of all, we are facing hard problems that demand hard answers. One of the cruelest ironies about the notion of a tuition increase is that it is to be paid by the State.

The committee report justifies a greater reliance on tuition as a source of revenue for public institutions of higher education with the following statement:

Reunion of First Boy Scout Troop

NOVEMBER 25, 1945

Boy Scout Troop 25 of Venice, formerly Troop One, the oldest scout troop in this region, will hold its first reunion next month in the Venice public school gymnasium.

Troop One was organized in April 1917 and was formally registered as a troop in August of that year. With James E. Kerr as its first leader, the troop began its career with 21 boys and a program that is still intact, although only three of the original 22 are actively associated with scouting at this time.

Show Thankfulness By Aiding Less Fortunate During Holiday Season

To the Editor:

I'm sure we all have something to be thankful for during our holiday season.

One of the wonderful things I am most thankful for is the opportunity to live in this wonderful city of Granite City.

I was born and schooled in the town of Cairo, Ill., and what a wonderful little town it was back then. They are having problems, but they are not so big that they cannot be solved.

Humans are human no matter who they are. We always want to "pass the buck," but what is so hard to admit is that maybe sometimes we might be wrong in some of our own attitudes?

We who live in this great city should be very thankful for the many friends and the chance to progress. We have excellent plants that employ many people, giving us the opportunity to eat and pay our bills. But we look around us and see many people laid off—in debt and unable to pay their bills.

In the Granite City area, we have wonderful organizations, such as the Salvation Army, that give aid to less fortunate families the year around.

We who are a little more fortunate, have health, jobs and a roof over our heads, should take an inventory of ourselves and really put our best foot forward. Let us see if we can help one or two during the holiday season.

The old saying, "charity begins at home," is as false as the saying that we can help others and they will help us; everybody needs somebody.

I will try to "spare a dime" so that there can be happy holidays.

—A BETTER WORLD

To the Editor:

At Thanksgiving season, we think of our forefathers, who had so little. In the midst of feast and merriment, they gave thanks. Surely we, in a land of plenty, with Medicare and frozen turkey, should be more thankful.

We Americans should be more concerned about inner city slums and our outcast Negro population. "A better world starts with me."

RECORD AT GRANITE CITY LOCKS. Col. Carroll N. Le-Tellier is shown presenting a plaque to mark the breaking of the 5,000-ton monthly shipping total at Locks 27 to K. W. Scoggins, president, Midwest Towing, Alton; Midwest's M/V Hawkeye carried the record-breaking cargo. Left to right are Anthony L. Kucera, Regional Manager, Water Resources Associated; Scoggins; Le-Tellier, district engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis; and Leroy J. Harris, Lockmaster, Locks 27, Mississippi River.

The Hawkeye passed here upbound with 22,500 tons of coal, which raised commercial river traffic past the 5,000-ton mark, establishing a new record for a single month. The grand total for the entire month of October was 5,373,775. Traffic growth through Locks 27 stands at 4,971,110 over the first ten months of 1969, which was a record year. Abnormal grain shipments and the resurgence of coal accounted for a large part of the gains.

Bi-State Bus Income Meets October Cost

"For the first time in the current fiscal year revenues of the Bi-State Transit System during the month of October were sufficient to meet all current expenses with a balance of $38,860 left, apply against deficits of the previous months."

Transit Services Corp., operators of the Bi-State Transit System, reported passing revenues of $2,148,884 for the month, and operating expenses $1,857,148. This left a net of $311,736.

The company said it was pleased from which $271,576 was used to meet fund requirements under a trust indenture.

"We are gratified that during October our revenue was about as projected," Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency said. "Despite the satisfactory results for this one month, we expect a substantial deficit for the current fiscal year."

"This points up a need for state or local financial assistance without which Bi-State Transit System may be forced to increase fares and curtail services," many parties said.

"The two-state area where operating expenses are not now being met," Col. Smyser added.

Airport reported income of $2332 for October, bringing total revenue for the four-month period from July 1 to Oct. 31 to $23,992. The Gateway Arch was visited by 43,106 persons in October. This brought to 386,144 the total number of passengers riding the Gateway Arch Transportation System in the July-October period. Bi-State Development Agency operates the Arch Transportation System under a cooperative agreement with the National Park Service.

The American National Bank and Trust Co., trustee of the refund fund, said it was ordered to refund 70 percent of the amount requested by each claimant. National Guard in State Totals 14,312

Illinois National Guard strength has increased by 1,000 men this year, Maj. Gen. Harold R. Patton, Illinois adjutant general, reports, the state now has 14,312 guardsmen.

Patton said 35 veterans and 462 men with no prior service enlisted in the Army division in October while 25 guardsmen extended their enlistments. The Air National Guard recorded enlistments by 14 prior service veterans, two non-prior service enlistments and 10 extensions.

The "Try-On" recruiting program for veterans offers enlistment to men with prior active military service for one year at the grade they held on separation, up to grade E-7. "We are especially interested in continued and increased enlistment from minority groups," Patton said, adding that the Illinois National Guard maintains a higher percentage of minority group members than the national average.

Liquid Petroleum in Some State Vehicles

Low pollution liquid petroleum (LP) gas is now being tested in state vehicles, Robert McAlpine, superintendent of vehicles, Department of General Services, has announced.

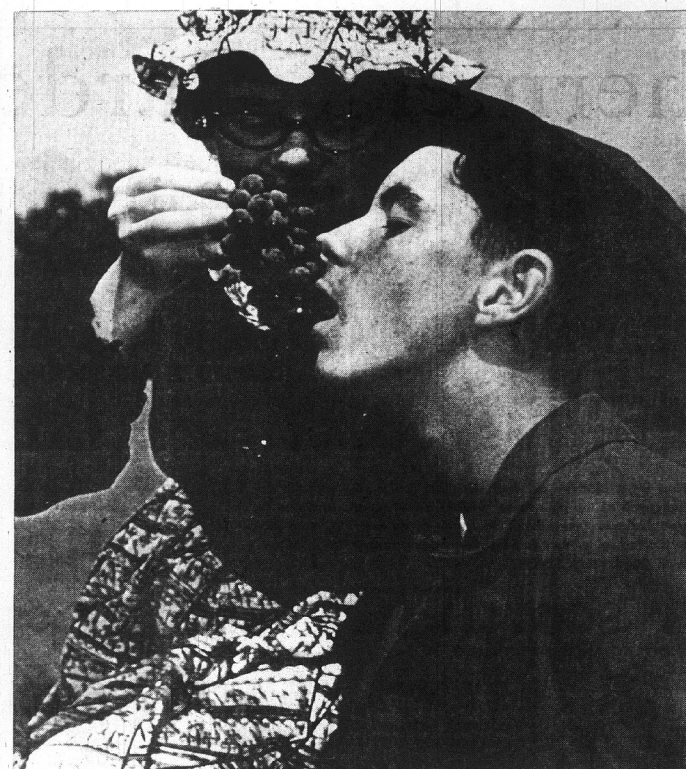

Conversion to LP gas engines has been completed in three cars; conversion of seven more and of 10 trucks has been ordered.

McAlpine said converted engines will get greater usable power per gallon of fuel and that, because of fuel purity and complete combustion, maintenance costs should be much lower while sparkplug cleaning, carburetor replacement and fuel system clean-ups may be eliminated.

Predicted saving over a 10-year period is $1,900. McAlpine said state vehicles equipped for LP gas will be used exclusively in Chicago, where the pollution problem is more acute.

Lloyd Helmkamp Promoted

Marine Lance Corporal Lloyd C. Helmkamp, husband of the former Miss Ruth E. Staten of Kaseberg Park, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S. C.

BOUNTY OF THE HARVEST is enjoyed at the annual "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese" at Nauvoo, one of the leading Illinois tourist attractions. An adjacent city, vacated in 1846 by Mormons, has been preserved intact.

Two Nauvoos Attract Visitors to Illinois

There are two Nauvoos. There is the bustling little village at the top of the hill with its fine restaurants, businesses of various types and the imposing St. Mary's Academy straddling the main thoroughfare. This is the Nauvoo where streets and city walks are filled each Labor Day weekend with thousands of happy visitors who join in the community's famous celebration of the "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese."

At the foot of the hill is the other Nauvoo. Dozens of sturdy, well-preserved, but largely empty brick houses are evidence of a great city that closed down one winter night in 1846 and never re-opened.

Here you see a ghost town. Unlike other ghost towns, the residents did not leave one by one in search of greater economic opportunity.

Industry was thriving, agriculture was expanding and Nauvoo, inhabited by the Mormons for seven short years, had a population of 30,000 people.

It was the largest city in Illinois when the Mormon mass exodus took place. Only the movement of some early Indian tribes parallels this exodus in American history. And the Mormons left in response to much the same sort of pressure.

Icarian Influence
Here and there you will find reflected in the area the influence of the Icarians who moved into Nauvoo after the Mormons had yielded to the pressure of their disapproving Illinois neighbors and had gone West. The French Icarian experiment in communal living did not last long.

The vineyards they planted were supplemented by French and German settlers in the late 1800's and the wine industry came a healthy one. Today, Nauvoo is the site of the only bonded winery in Illinois.

Later, discovery that the abandoned mine shafts in the Nauvoo area made perfect aging places for the local Roquefort-like Nauvoo Blue Cheese led to another profitable industry. This cheese factory in Nauvoo is open to the public.

Parades, Bands Featured
Nauvoo, on Labor Day weekend, is a delight for the tourist. For many years the citizens of the town have celebrated the "Wedding of the Wine and Cheese," using the usual trappings of parades and bands. Not so usual, however, is the tremendous pageant of the huge "Sod" stage of the natural amphitheater in Nauvoo State Park.

Another attraction for tourists is the Sauk-Fox Pow Wow in Rock Island every Labor Day—a colorful and traditionally packed celebration. This site was the capital of the Sauk and Fox Indian nations.

Wrapping of Food Vital to Freezer Storage of Food

What's the climate in a refrigerator? Cold and dry. What's the climate in a freezer? Colder and drier.

So what? So, coldness protects perishable foods from the growth of harmful bacteria, but the dryness robs them of flavor and value if they are not shielded from it.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America, who conduct consumer information programs on maintaining food quality, say such shielding is technically called a "vapor barrier."

It comes in many forms: plastic films, bags and containers, wax paper, aluminum foil, freezer paper and tapes, plus assorted bowls, casseroles and utensils that often do double duty for cooking or serving.

Which to use for best all-round protection depends on the food and the time and type of storage.

Meat, Poultry, Fish
Meats, poultry and fish, for instance, require the most protection because they must be refrigerated or frozen for safety's sake and because they are the basis of almost every menu. When these foods lose their freshness, the whole meal sags.

But for a few hours of chill, their from-the-store wrappings, loosened to permit air circulation, will do nicely. For longer periods of refrigeration (over 12 hours), you must increase the protection to fresh plastic film, foil or wax paper.

If the storage period is over two or three days, these foods are safer in the freezer, and that means tight wrapping with heavier gauge materials. "drug store style," with the ends folded to the center, and then double-folded over and over until the fold touches the food.

The double-fold technique is also used on the ends, with tape added to hold the tight fold on freezer paper or plastic film.

Perishable Foods
The same guidelines of time and type of storage apply to "protein perishables" when they are left over from meals or used as ingredients in prepared dishes, except that covered bowls and casseroles will be more convenient for refrigeration.

If there is sauce or gravy. And heavy plastic containers with tight tops are handier for freezing if there is much liquid.

Baked goods, sandwiches made ahead for lunch boxes, and other foods destined for short freezer storage will do nicely in plastic bags, which are also helpful for fruits and vegetables in the refrigerator.

Leafy salad greens particularly benefit from this extra protection because they easily and quickly lose their crispness.

Wax paper is a good cover-up for bowls or plates that don't have covers of their own when you use them in the refrigerator, and it's a good way to protect the freshness of "made-ahead" gelatin molds, appetizers, desserts and other party fare.

Wax paper or light plastic film is also useful to protect pantry foods from dust or insect contamination if you have damaged the original package so it does not close properly, and when you want to save space in storing a small remaining amount.

Avoid Paper Bags
As for the "don'ts" of food storage, they include: don't stuff your refrigerator with the paper bags that come from the store. They usually have a "paper smell," they tend to insulate against the very cold you're seeking, and they prevent good air circulation.

Don't freeze foods in their store wrappings unless they came from a freezer. Most store wrappings of fresh perishables are designed for temporary use.

Don't store strong smelling foods without very good wrapping or tight fitting covers. Flavors and aromas "transfer" easily in the narrow confines of a refrigerator.

Don't think that a few hours or days won't make a quality difference if you pop things into the refrigerator and freezer without taking care to wrap or pack them properly. Taking care in the kitchen means more healthful, pleasurable meals at lower cost.

Over-Counter Plate Sales Begin Tuesday

Over-the-counter sale of 1971 motor vehicle license plates for vehicles licensed on a calendar year basis will begin Tuesday, at two Secretary of State's office outlets in Springfield, the three Motor Vehicle Facilities in Chicago and at 91 banks throughout the state, Secretary of State John W. Lewis announced today.

The date is also the first one on which the 1971 plates may legally be displayed on vehicles, is midnight Monday, Feb. 15.

The banks will accept only renewal applications for passenger cars, and the applications must be accompanied by the 1970 identification cards or, if the cards have been lost, the certificates of title.

At their discretion, the banks may choose to charge an additional fee, not to exceed $1, for the service to offset the cost of a $6.80 validating machine each has had to purchase. The banks will also set their own hours. Plates will be sold here at the First Granite City National Bank and the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

The Secretary of State's office outlets, in addition to passenger car renewal applications, will process all other types of applications, including original registrations, transfers and certificates of title, Lewis said.

Million Illinois Gun Owners Are Registered

A 63-year-old Rockford woman, Mrs. Ed Thorne, is the one millionth Illinois resident to register as a gun owner. She plans to do some pleasure hunting with her husband and, according to Jim Lockart, supervisor of the state conservation department's division of wildlife resources, she should have good hunting.

Lockart said the gun harvest is ahead of schedule this year, which should make getting the wary ringneck easier. The season opened Nov. 14 and will end at sunset Dec. 31.

Lockart added that 117,000 geese, mostly Canadians, are in the southern Illinois goose refuge areas and major flights haven't arrived yet.

Delegate Explains Proposed Constitution

A year ago at this time Southern Illinois University Prof. David Kenney was stumping the area in his bid for a delegate's seat in the Illinois Constitutional Convention.

He was successful and now he's running around most as much—if not more—telling people what the convention accomplished. The new Constitution, the result of debate that now fills 25 drawers of file cabinets in transcript form, goes before the voters on Dec. 15. Kenney thinks it "has the chance of being the best state Constitution in the United States."

So what does Kenney, head of SIU's Public Affairs Research Bureau, think the important changes are? How is the overhauled Constitution better than the 100-year-old document it is designed to replace?

BILL OF RIGHTS—The new Constitution would ban discrimination in housing or employment for reasons of sex, creed, color, race, national origin or physical or mental handicap. That just about leaves no basis uncovered.

EXECUTIVE ARTICLE—The bill would be shortened somewhat and election of all state officers would be moved to the off-year. This, says Kenney, could have an enormous effect on state politics.

Reorganize Agencies—The governor would be given power to reorganize state agencies on his own unless the plan should meet disapproval by either house of the legislature. "This may not sound like much," says Kenney, "but there's quite a bit of difference in saying the governor can do something if neither house objects and saying he can't do it at all."

The governor would be given a new "suspensive veto" which works like this: If he gets a bill he doesn't like he can tell the House and Senate what changes he wants. If they agree it becomes law.

LEGISLATURE—The Constitution would provide for annual sessions and includes a tie-breaker setup in re-apportionment action in order to avoid such monstrosities as the 1964 at-large election for the House of Representatives.

In this case, if the Legislature couldn't agree on a reapportionment, an eight-man re-apportionment commission would be named, half of its members from the Legislature, the other half from outside.

The state Supreme Court would nominate two persons for the tie-breaker slot. The Secretary of State would pick him in a blind draw. The effect would be to create a bargaining position. Illinois is out for reapportionment on the basis of 1970 census figures.

FINANCE—Totally new article. It would require a balanced annual budget, and would strengthen the hand of the legislature in auditing executive expenses. The law maker would be empowered to determine what kind of performance the state gets for its dollars, as well as how many dollars there are on either side of the ledger.

JUDICIARY—The Constitution ballot in the Dec. 15 referendum won't ask simply for a "yes" or "no." Convention delegates have left to the voters a choice on four Constitutional items. One of them is whether supreme, appellate and circuit court judges shall be elected or appointed. (The other three propositions on the blue ballot are abolishment of the death penalty, lowering the voting age to 18, and a big one—whether the Constitution shall preserve the present multi-member districting in the House of Representatives—with its cumbersome cumulative voting—or change to single member districts for the 177 House seats.)

REVENUE—Since it appears now that voters decided in the Nov. 3 election to wipe out the personal property tax on individuals, the Constitution proposal becomes academic. But even if it had been turned down, the new Constitution also calls for elimination of the corporation tax by 1979.

Drop Food Tax—Certain basic necessities such as food could be exempted from the so-called sales tax and a Homestead exemption could be granted on real property taxes. The Constitution would leave it up to the Legislature.

EDUCATION—The state superintendent of public instruction would be appointed instead of elected and the Constitution as it is drawn up declares the financing of public education to be a primary responsibility of the state. That would shift the burden from local property taxes to such sources as the income tax.

FRIENDS MEET OVERSEAS. Pfc. Joseph Pinero, left, stationed with the 9th Artillery at Giessen, Germany, entertains a friend from home, Pfc. Jonathan A. Thomason, who presently is on maneuvers in Germany. Both attended Madison High School and were buddies before entering the service.

90-day requirement for county residency would be dumped entirely.

The new Constitution would create a state board of elections to administer voting and registration laws. Kenney says this item, one of the more hotly contested ones in the convention, could have far-reaching effects in cleaning up Illinois' sometimes messy electoral process.

GUN CONTROL—The caption isn't a constitutional article, it's just a hot piece of constitutional property that Kenney thinks may be a "time bomb." What the delegates did was insert a section under the Bill of Rights saying that the right to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed—but "subject to police power."

A curious provision—subject to police power—and what might that mean? "Both sides of the issue—the Cook County delegates who wanted stiff gun control laws and the downstateers who didn't—thought the statement achieved their ends," says Kenney.

Statement Achieves Ends—The pro-gun people say they got the "right" in the Constitution; the anti-gun people believe the statement makes the right not an inherent one, but explicitly regulated by the state. It may, in fact, make it easier to get gun-control legislation through the courts. In any case, the courts are going to have to decide what it does mean.

Kenney hopes to find time to go through those 25 drawers full of debate, the 430 or so roll calls, the 137 issues of the convention's "Daily Journal" and the 16-page questionnaire filled out by all 116 delegates, mesh his own notes, with the help of a computer, and then write a book about the experience.

"It'll be a kind of personal participant-observer thing like

Madison GIs Meet In Giessen, Germany

Two servicemen who were close friends while attending school together in Madison recently held a reunion at Giessen, Germany, where one soldier is stationed.

Pfc. Joseph C. Pinero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pinero, 911 Greenwood Ave., Madison, and Pfc. Jonathan A. Thomason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Thomason, 1661 Fourth St., Madison, have spent the past three weeks together in Giessen, where Pfc. Pinero is based with the 9th Artillery.

The reunion came about when Pfc. Thomason arrived in Germany with members of the 7th Artillery Regiment from Fort Riley, Kan. The unit was among several United States based military groups assigned to participate in joint maneuvers with U. S. Forces in Germany and West German Army divisions.

Both Quad-City servicemen are 17 years old and attended Madison High School. Pfc. Pinero entered the Army on April 20, 1967. He was assigned to Giessen in September.

Pfc. Thomason enlisted in the service one year ago this month and his last assignment was at Fort Riley. He is scheduled to return to the United States upon completion of the NATO training exercise this week.

Pfc. Pinero's address appears in today's Yule Mail Call List.

Two Gc Students Start As Practice Teachers

Two Granite City students at the University of Illinois have begun a practice teaching period of six to eight weeks as they work under the guidance of an experienced classroom teacher.

They are Alice Cross, 2462 Cleveland Blvd., at Urbana Junior High School, and Barry Masse, 2545 Edison avenue, at Garden Hills School in Champaign.

Jim Bouton's "Ball Four," but with his chortling underpinnings, he says.

Of course, if the voters don't follow through Dec. 15, he won't have to look for a title: "Strikeout." But he'd much prefer "Home Run."

School Years Are Friendship Years

School days are the time not only for reading, writing and arithmetic but also for making friends.

The grade school years—kindergarten through sixth grade—represent the most crucial time in learning how to make friends. And parents can lend a hand with social development as well as with homework.

Children imitate their parents. For example, if you have many friends and invite people into your home often, your youngster is more apt to regard friendship as an important value in his life also.

When your child invites classmates home, welcome them—even though at times this may mean confusion or inconvenience. It's important to a child that you willingly make popcorn and dispense lemonade to his friends as well as entertain his own.

If your child is new in a neighborhood or school, you can ease the "getting acquainted" process with some planned activities. Use a special invitation to a neighborhood child to accompany your family on a Saturday outing or plan an informal get-together in your home for a small group of your child's classmates.

Preserve Gourds For Decorations

Bright shining gourds make festive table centerpieces or striking room accessories when hung on a wall in a gaily colored string basket. You can preserve these hard fruits to last indefinitely with proper treatment. Wash the gourds carefully in sudsy water, rinse and dry thoroughly. Set them aside until completely dried inside—so dry that the seeds rattle when you shake the gourds.

Disturb the shells, wipe with a sudsy sponge, dry and coat with thin white shellac. Repeat with a second coat of shellac and apply liquid floor wax. Then polish the treated gourds to a high gloss.

The award, given for demonstrated achievement in academics and leadership, was presented by Col. Jean Burner, professor of military science.

Winter is presently working at a master's level at MSU, with a major in marketing and transportation administration. He is a graduate of Granite City High School.

Tuition, Fees Set For New Dental School

Tuition, activities and related quarterly fees for students in the new School of Dental Medicine at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be the same as for other courses of study.

Action on the fees was established by the University's Board of Trustees. The new professional school will be temporarily housed at the Alton Center. Three special School of Dental Medicine fees were set by board action. Application fee is $20; advance deposit fee for applicants accepted for admission will be $200 and instrumental rental for each academic year will be $100.

The $20 application fee is payable at the time of filing. It is not refundable or not applied toward tuition.

The advance deposit fee which will be charged to each applicant accepted for admission will apply toward registration fees. The $200 deposit fee will be forfeited by any accepted applicant who withdraws or fails to appear at registration or otherwise defaults by failing to accept the dental school's offer to enroll him.

In the resolution establishing the fees for the professional school, the trustees said the textbook rental fee since it is common practice in professional schools for students to purchase textbooks.

It is anticipated that the School of Dental Medicine will initiate its academic program this fall. Applications for admission in the Dental School will be processed during the winter and spring quarters, 1971.

The first class, which will be 24 students, will attend the professional school in its temporary location at the Alton Center.

SIU Plans Graduate Program in Justice

A graduate degree program in the administration of justice is being sought by Southern Illinois University for its Carbondale campus.

SIU's Board of Trustees has approved a proposal which will be sent to the Illinois Board of Higher Education for final action.

The program, leading to a master of science degree, would be offered through the SIU Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections. It is a response to Board of Higher Education requests for a state master plan dealing with higher education offerings in law enforcement, criminal justice, police science and corrections.

Earlier this year the Board gave the SIU the go-ahead for two bachelor's degree programs and a research unit in the same general area.

The trustees said the new graduate degree training unit comes at a time when "serious national manpower shortages" hamper scientific studies of crime, criminals and the way society responds to criminal behavior. One reason for the shortage, said the proposal, is the quality of preparation afforded to administrators.

Jordan Heads Human Resources Department

Mel F. Jordan, executive director of the Joliet Community Relations Commission, has been named manager of the human resources department of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

In announcing the appointment, State Chamber President Lester W. Brann Jr. said the department, created nearly two years ago to help solve minority problems, will have as its major objectives in 1971:

1. Unification of public and private efforts in the human resource field.
2. Assisting in upgrading vocational education programs to meet the needs of business.
3. Analyzing training and employment programs in government and business.
4. Providing guidance and assistance for minority entrepreneurs.

Jordan, 32, a native Chicagoan, received a B.S. degree in sociology from St. Joseph University, and did graduate study at the University of Maryland and Georgetown University. He is attending the LaSalle University School of Law.

Before his Joliet post, Jordan served as urban affairs administrator, Continental Illinois National Bank; human relations officer, Chicago Commission on Human Relations; urban life advisor, Chicago Committee on Urban Opportunity; and relocation representative, Chicago Department of Urban Renewal.

The 125-member Youth Orchestra is made up of area musicians from 12 to 21 years of age, and is sponsored by the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society. Leonard Slatkin is conductor and music director.

The Orchestra will make its public debut at 8:30 p.m. in Powell Symphony Hall. Maestro Walter Susskind will appear as guest conductor, and soprano Joyce Mathis will be guest soloist.

The program will include the Leopold Stokowski transcription of Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor; a group of operatic arias; the Suite Provencale by Darius Milhaud; and the Suite from Aaron Copland's Billy the Kid.

The executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority was appointed last week.

Arven H. Saunders, currently director of the Dulles International and Washington National airports in Washington, D.C., was selected by the Board of the Airport Authority for the post.

Saunders, who will begin his new job this January, was named Airline Traffic Association "Man of the Year" in 1970.

In other action, the Airport Authority has requested Argonne National Laboratory and the Illinois Institute of Technology to present to the Authority at the next meeting the scope of a study of the possible effects of the new airport on the environment.

In Missouri, the House Appropriations Committee of the State's General Assembly has approved $125,000 for a comprehensive planning study for the second major airport in the St. Louis Region; the Missouri study would be coordinated through the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

$500,000 Development Budget
Arnold Cassens of Edwardsville was elected President of the Illinois Metro East Corporation at its fifth annual meeting last week. Selected to serve with Cassens were B. J. Hantel of Belleville as vice-president and David R. Fickes of Edwardsville as secretary-treasurer.

At its annual meeting, retiring president Harold Fisher of Granite City announced that the corporation proposes to increase its budget to $500,000 to allow the hiring of a full-time executive to "sell" the entire area to industry and prospective developers.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad announced that it plans to seek the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission for sale of the Alton & Southern Railroad to the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway, St. Louis - Southwestern, also called the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The Alton & Southern, which has tracks and yards in this region, was sold by the Aluminum Co. of America in 1968.

Disaster Funds
Granite City has been granted $330,000 in additional state and federal disaster funds. The money will be used for restoration of the Granite City sewer system.

This additional money brings to $664,000 the amount of federal and state funds allocated to Granite City for repairs to its sewer system.

In similar news, the city of East St. Louis has been informed by the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development that the federal government will purchase $350,000 in revenue bonds issued by the city for a $13 million sewer construction project.

A $465,000 bond issue which would have been used to help rebuild a high school gym in Edwardsville was defeated by residents of Edwardsville Community District No. 7. The proposal lost by 49 votes out of a total of 3,568.

Voters in Pontiac Grade School District 105 in St. Clair County approved a $285,000 design and development of the East St. Louis riverfront was authorized by the East St. Louis City Council.

The design team, which was requested by the plan commission of East St. Louis, includes SIU Professor R. Buckminster Fuller.

The Finance Committee of the Madison County Board of Supervisors produced a $7.3 million county budget, nearly one-half million dollars more than the 1970 budget. A tax cut of 1 and 1/2 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation is projected.

In general area news, a Madison firm has been sold to Diversified Industries, Inc., of Claydon, Mo.; the Belleville City Council has purchased half of a downtown block for use as a parking lot; Wood River has purchased a new $3,515 fire truck; and the soccer squad of SIU-SW was selected as one of four teams to play in the mid-west portion of the NCAA soccer tournament held at Cougar Field.

Scout Officers Train At Weekend Seminar

Newly elected officers of the Order of the Arrow, national honor camping society of the Boy Scouts of America attended a training seminar on lodge leadership during the weekend. The two-day course was held at the St. Louis YMCA Trout Lodge on Sunset Lake near Potosi, Mo. The local Boy Scout camp Sunken is located on the same lake a few miles from the YMCA camp.

Completing the training course in lodge leadership from the Quad-City area were William Fox, Madison, Uniwah (Quad-City) chapter chief; Tom Hooks, Venice, lodge secretary; Barry Gibbs, finance chairman; Richard Momphard, adult advisor to ceremonies committee; Ray Gaudette Sr., adult advisor to membership committee; Henry J. Hellrich, volunteer lodge adult advisor; Rick Hooks, Venice, lodge vice-chief.

A complete review of the Order's Handbook, in addition to training in the various aspects of officer and committee functions, were studied in detail. The promotion of summer camp was a major area of study.

Plans were made for the lodge annual banquet which is to be held Dec. 29 at 6:30 p.m. in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, in Madison. More than 200 members from the area are expected to attend. Mick Strange, Madison, training advisor for the lodge, conducted the course.

Latin American Study Program Started Here

After two years of planning, a Latin American studies program was launched this fall at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Acting director of the program, housed in the Humanities Division, is Betty Osiek, assistant professor of foreign languages and literature.

The program is an interdisciplinary concentration educating students in the language and culture of the geographical area, Mrs. Osiek explained. "In this way the student will develop a more comprehensive viewpoint of the geographical and cultural complex of Latin America through the eyes of these related subjects."

'Life Style' Neighborhoods Urged

City people in the United States should hurry along the emergence of life style neighborhoods and subcommunities, according to urban planning professor William Weismantel of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

He cites as examples of life style communities the golf course subdivision, the "singles only" apartment development, college student housing, the convent, the monastery, the hippie commune, and the historic building area.

"He suggests that not all life style communities should be enlarged or multiplied, certainly not the ghetto, the prison, those cabins on stilts built along rivers, or rooming house neighborhoods occupied mostly by lonely men. This scholar of city life points out that the U. S. is entering the third stage of metropolitan organization: In the last half of the nineteenth century, St. Louis and most large cities were organized by nationality. There were Jewish, German, Irish, Italian, Greek, Polish and black neighborhoods. Then came the social class phase—people of like incomes and education, regardless of nationality, formed exclusive neighborhoods, based upon social class. According to Weismantel, social class is not a satisfying way to organize a city. He points out that families of the lower middle class neighborhood, for example, fear slipping back, or being overcome, by the lower class area. And they are disgruntled because they cannot afford the upper middle class neighborhood. This is why he suggests hurrying along the emergence of the next phase, the life style organization of cities. He suggests that the surviving stock of historic buildings might be taken over by families who want to experience a distinct life style. But historic building precincts in metropolitan areas are being threatened by existing zoning regulations, according to Professor Weismantel. He believes the effect of zoning on historic buildings groups has been to encourage: 1. Replacement by tall buildings having more enclosed retail space per acre of lot. 2. New buildings which are out of character, in terms of building massing at ground level, with existing buildings. 3. The destruction of historic buildings for parking lots. 4. Displacement of dwelling occupancy for commercial or manufacturing use. Inadequate Land Area Zoning usually discourages rehabilitation of historic buildings by prohibiting structural change of buildings—which by modern standards—have inadequate yard and court space, he says.

Professor Weismantel argues that instead of zoning, a three-dimensional scale model of a historic building area be built and adopted as the official regulation. Residents should participate in preparing regulations which reflect their life style preferences in such matters as door and window trim colors, plant material, and whether or not there should be gates at the end of each block, he believes. He recommends the help of an architect, and suggests positive controls to prevent displacement of disadvantaged families when an area catches on as a life style precinct. He says that historic district regulation holds the key to the next phase of the American city, because the historic districts are the life style precinct we have had the most experience with.

Similar Technical Problems Regulating a recent or new life style precinct, such as one with Eclectic Twenties, Early Depression, Down Home, or Psychodelic building styles, raises the same technical problems as historic district regulations, he believes.

Professor Weismantel earned a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from Missouri University (Rolla) a law degree from Harvard Law School in Cambridge, Mass., and a doctor of philosophy degree in city and regional planning from Harvard University. A member of the American Institute of Planners, he formerly served as a consultant at Washington University, St. Louis, and the University of New Mexico. And he was on the design faculty of SIU at Carbondale.

GC Park Pre-Schoolers To Register Tuesday

A one-day registration period for youngsters wishing to enroll in the Granite City Park District's pre-school program will be conducted Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Harold Brown, superintendent of local parks and recreation, said today.

A maximum of 35 new children can be accepted for the district's 1971 pre-school series, with only one additional class expected to be formed during the winter-spring semester, Brown advised. Classes will start Jan. 4 at the Park District Community Center, 822 Niedringhaus Ave.

Parents may register a child by calling the Wilson Park office at 877-3039 next Tuesday. A total of 100 pre-schoolers currently are taking part in the program.

Children eligible to attend pre-school classes must be 4 years old by Feb. 1, 1971 and a resident of the park district. Each class will meet twice weekly, with one session in the morning from 9:30 to 11:30 and one afternoon session from 1 to 3 p.m. on different days.

The pre-school program includes arts and crafts, storytelling, organized games and group singing. No charge is made for the program, the park official said, however, ten cents per day should be given each child to cover the cost of a daily treat.

Brown also reminded parents that each youngster is required to pay a $1.75 insurance fee.

More Funds Allotted Medical Library Unit

The Bi-State Regional Medical Program library network, in which St. Elizabeth's Hospital is a participant, is one of five projects recently receiving additional funds for continued operation.

Funds were included in the $1,250,279 award granted to Bi-State Regional Medical Program in St. Louis by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Bi-State RMP is charged with improving health care—particularly in heart disease, cancer and stroke—for patients in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri.

The library network, which began operation last July, is designed to extend medical center library capabilities throughout the region by linking community hospitals with a medical center library in St. Louis, making available loans, reference and photocopy services. Approximately 50 hospitals in Illinois and Missouri are now participating in the project.

SIXTY YEARS AGO this scene at Main street and Broadway in Venice greeted residents and visitors arriving to attend ceremonies for the dedication of McKinley bridge. The date, as noted on this old photo in white ink, was Nov. 10, 1910. The photograph was found by W. A. Brummer.

Reports Available on Condition of Highways

Computers will bring Illinois motorists up-to-date highway conditions 24 hours a day this winter, according to State Police Supt. James McGuire.

Four times a day—at 5 and 11 a.m. and 5 and 9 p.m., or as conditions warrant—state police district headquarters report road conditions in their areas to Illinois' Law Enforcement Teletype System (LETS) terminal in Springfield.

LETS also has current information on road conditions in Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin.

McGuire said the information is available by public service telephone in ten of the 15 state police districts. Elsewhere, motorists may obtain the information by calling the district headquarters in their areas.

531,334 Working 37.2 Hours at Steel Firms

Domestic steel industry employment hit its lowest point of the year in September, American Iron and Steel Institute reported 531,334 wage and salary employees on industry payrolls during the month—a drop of 8,747 from August.

Steelmakers employed 547,406 persons in September 1969. Wage and salary payments also dipped slightly in September. They totaled $444,405,000—down from $445,364,000 in August, and from $451,222,000 in September 1968.

Through the first nine months of 1970, wage and salary costs had reached $3,975,809,000.

Total employment costs per hour worked by hourly employees: $5.80 in September, and $5.38 average for 1969. The employment benefits included in the figure (pensions, insurance, supplemental unemployment benefits, the nonpayroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs and legally required payroll taxes) are partly estimated.

Average hours worked per week by wage earners: 37.2 hours in September, up from August's average of 35.7 hours and July's average of 35.7.
